

NEONATAL INTENSIVE CARE UNIT PICTURES OF HOPE

A new "then and now" photo exhibit at Bronson Children's Hospital is designed to bring hope to families with babies in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU). The Pictures of Hope display, funded by the Bronson Health Foundation, features photos of former Neonatal Intensive Care Unit patients who spent days, weeks or months in the NICU.

The pictures show the former patients who have now grown into healthy toddlers, teens or adults. The photos are installed in the halls of the NICU as meaningful was to provide hope and encouragement to families of current and future patients.
